I have a draggable.file and I also have a dialog that allows the user to cancel a file drag and drop. This is my code: `$("#dialog-modal").dialog({ autoOpen: true, modal: true, position: { my: "center top+50", at: "center top+50", of: $(window), collision: "none" }, buttons: { "Accept": function() { //perform the drop action window.console.log("i just saved it"); }, "cancel": function() { $(this).dialog("close"); } } }); $("#drop").droppable({ accept: ".file", drop: function(evt, ui) { window.console.log("finally!"); } }); $(".file").draggable({ revert: "invalid", containment: "#drop",`

Lars Svanoe, 25, of Manhattan, is accused of leading police on a brief car chase in the early hours of the morning after he was stopped by cops for going 35 miles over the speed limit. In court documents filed Friday, the District Attorney's Office said Svanoe fled police after they stopped him for making a right-hand turn without using his turn signal. The documents said Svanoe ran from the police car onto the sidewalk, and had both of his hands up and was waving. The officer also said that Svanoe had smeared feces all over the seat of the car. Lars Svanoe A patrol car was dispatched to the area shortly after 2 a.m. and spotted Svanoe allegedly running on the sidewalk and holding his shirt up, police said. Svanoe and the officer got into an exchange of words and the officer eventually got into the car, according to the document. Svanoe f678ea9f9e
